FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

North Carolina Youth Tap Ensemble brings rhythm & joy to the Carolina Theatre Family Series.

Sat. November 7th, NCYTE performs at the Carolina Theatre.

Durham, NC — The North Carolina Youth Tap Ensemble (NCYTE) is proud to be collaborating with the Carolina Theatre of Durham Family Series to bring their show, Shaping Sounds, to the families and community members of Durham. Performing their educational program, NCYTE will be sharing 60 jam packed minutes of tap dance, rhythm, live music, and audience participation! Bring your whole family for the fun and learn a bit about the history of tap dance along the way.

Recognized as one of the finest youth tap ensembles in the world, NCYTE features approximately 35 dancers, ages 8 to 18, representing communities across North Carolina. Known for their poise, passion, and professionalism, the dancers honor the rich traditions of American rhythm tap while infusing each performance with contemporary energy, musicality, and innovation. Their repertoire includes works by some of the world's leading choreographers.

—

ABOUT THE NORTH CAROLINA YOUTH TAP ENSEMBLE (NCYTE)

Established in 1983, NCYTE is one of the world's premier youth tap dance companies. With a mission to preserve, promote, and advance the art of rhythm tap, NCYTE offers exceptional training and performance opportunities that empower young dancers to grow as artists, collaborators, and community members.

MEDIA CONTACT

Emily Jane Acree
Executive Director manager@ncyte.org
(484) 942-4950
https://www.ncyte.org/